the 1990s, the number of people in the world who are illiterate has increased from 1.1 billion to 1.5 billion.

There are many reasons for this. One is that the population of the world is growing rapidly. Another is that the number of people who are illiterate is increasing in many countries, particularly in the developing world. This is because many people are not attending school, and many who do attend are not learning to read and write.

There are many ways to help people learn to read and write. One way is to provide them with books and other reading materials. Another way is to provide them with instruction in reading and writing. This can be done in a classroom, or it can be done in a community center or other place where people gather.

There are many organizations that are working to help people learn to read and write. One of the most well-known is the International Literacy Association. This organization has been working since 1964 to promote literacy around the world. It has many programs and projects that are helping people in many different ways.

There are many other organizations that are also working to help people learn to read and write. These organizations are working in many different ways, and they are making a big difference in the lives of many people. If you are interested in helping people learn to read and write, there are many ways that you can get involved.

One way is to donate books or other reading materials to a library or a community center. Another way is to volunteer your time to help teach people to read and write. There are many opportunities like this, and they can be very rewarding. If you are interested in helping people learn to read and write, please contact your local literacy organization for more information.
